

Newspaper exchange copies are one of the oldest pipelines for news. For instance, I started reading an Arkansas newspaper in Louisville, Ky., and discovered he in turn had read it in the McCurtain County Gazette of Idabel, Okla. What caught Louie's eye (as it did mine) was a reference to a wreck scene east of Broken Bow where the highway "was stained a deep red." Later on the "red stain" was explained. It seems that the Hugh Hoesy of Mineral Springs lost control of his truck near Mountain Fork bridge and turned over.

The truck was loaded with straw, berries. Hoesy was unhurt. But, Graves added to the McCurtain County Gazette account, the highway had a jam.

Before you decide this year's vacation spot I suggest you study the list of Arkansas' own attractions. I've been around the United States quite a bit myself and the Arkansas mountains, forests, rivers and lakes will stack up with America's best.

For instance, the Narrows lake (or Lake Greeson, its new official name) is a dead-ringer for Lake George in New York state, commonly considered to be one of the world's most beautiful. My opinion on this matter is reinforced by the verdict of people from Minnesota, who are familiar with the famous Northwest lake country, and with recent visitors from the East who like myself have seen New York's famous Lake George.

But the Narrows may be too near home for folks who want to make a grand tour. In that case I suggest you write the Division of Parks, Forestry & Parks Commission, P. O. Box 1940, Little Rock, Ark., and ask for their 1954 Park Pamphlet.

I've just received the newspaper's copy, and this is the most intriguing piece of holiday literature the state government has ever issued. It emphasizes the formal state parks, and warns you to write for reservations well in advance of your vacation time if you are going to stop over in one of the various lodges or cottages with which most of the state parks are equipped.

Probably the No. 1 attraction in the public's mind is Petit Jean, a mountain retreat between Hot Springs and Morrilton. But there are others: Mt. Nebo, Devil's Den and Buffalo River, all in the mountains; Lake Catherine State Park, between Malvern and Hot Springs; and Arkansas Post, in the flat country of southeast Arkansas, although this last one has only camping facilities.

And of course there is a wealth of vacation material outside the formal park areas — such magic places as Norfolk and Bull Shoals lakes, along the Arkansas-Missouri boundary.

I am reminded of the experience of one of the Star's families several years ago: On a vacation tour across north Arkansas they came to Norfolk lake and found their path was intercepted by a network of ferry-lines. Wanting to continue east they grabbed the first ferry-boat that was handy — but wound up in Missouri. Wrong boat.

Of such tales are vacations made. And some of the best are right here in your own state.

UDC to Meet at Old State Capitol

Mrs. H. C. Whitworth, president of the Pat Cleburne Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, announced today the organization will hold its annual picnic-meeting in the Old State Capitol at Washington on Wednesday, May 5.

The old building was erected in 1840 and served as Arkansas' provisional Capitol when Federal troops occupied Little Rock from 1863 to 1865. Through this building and its predecessors on the same site, alongside of the old Andrew Jackson Military Road, have passed dozens of men whose names are prominent in State and National history.

In 1929 citizens of Washington petitioned the Arkansas General Assembly for an appropriation to restore and preserve the old landmark. The sum of $5,000 was granted and restoration was accomplished through efforts of W. H. Etter, Charlene Moss Williams of Washington and the late Mrs. J. A. Henry of Hope.

Wednesday's program will be in charge of Mrs. J. J. Battle of Fulton who will present Judge James H. Pilkinton, former resident of Washington, and widely recognized speaker. His subject will be "Heroes of the Confederacy."

At noon the Daughters will serve a picnic lunch.

Stevens' Counsel Accused of Try to Halt Probe

By graymond Lahr and Herbert FOSTER

WASHINGTON (UP) — Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens' counsel was accused today of trying to get the commander of Fort Monmouth to withdraw security suspension recommendation at a time when Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was investigating alleged subversion at the radar center.

Stevens said it is "entirely possible" that he told his counsel, John G. Adams, to take such action, though he did not recall doing so. He said it also is "entirely possible" that Adams acted on his own.

The charge was made in a written statement by the Fort Monmouth commanders aide and was presented at the 11th session of the Senate investigating subcommittee hearings on the Army-McCarthy feud. It was produced during cross-examination of Stevens on McCarthy's charge that the secretary tried to block his investigation last fall at the Army's New Jersey Signal Corp installation.

According to the charge Adams telephoned the Fort Monmouth commandant Major Gen. Kirk B. Lawton and asked him if he would withdraw his suspension recommendations. Lawton refused, asserting that was Stevens' "responsibility."

The 11th session produced these highlights: McCarthy said Lawton showed "a lot of guts" in cooperating with his investigation though the general said it would "kill his chances of promotion." McCarthy produced a report showing an Army promotion board did "pass over" Lawton.

Stevens who said he once considered removing Lawton from Fort Monmouth, denied he had planned any "reprisal" against him. He said he wanted Lawton and all other commanders to use good judgment and not start a "stampede of suspensions for 'guilt by association.'"

Pressed by hearing Counsel Ray H. Jenkins for a "yes-or-no" answer as to whether he ordered Adams to make the call to Lawton, Stevens said Jenkins was taking "one incident out of perspective."

Stevens showed signs of wearying after six days of testifying. McCarthy said he had lots more questions to ask but would not object to Stevens taking an hour or a day off the witness stand whenever he got too tired.

President Eisenhower said at his news conference today he hoped the hearings would be quickly concluded. Subcommittee members hoped a speedup would be possible, lest the investigation drag on all summer. They met secretly today and will meet again later to see how the hearings can be expedited.

Stevens several times said he could not recall whether he told Adams to try to get Lawton to pull back recommendations for suspension. He did not deny the charge that Adams made such a request on the general.

Trellis Mae Shouldn't Feel Bad, Nobody Can Make Head or Tails of McCarthy Hearing

By HAL BOYLE
HOMETOWN, U.S.A. — Trellis Mae Peeble, America's average housewife, gnawed her fingernails in despair as she sat at her writing desk scribbling on a sheet of paper.

"Oh, Wilburn, I'm glad you're home!" she exclaimed, as her husband entered.

"Why?" he asked warily. Like most husbands Wilburn was too practical a man to see any real reason why his wife should be glad to see him.

"I need your help," said Trellis Mae. "Tomorrow it's my turn to make the weekly current events report to the ladies of the Minerva Literary and Glee Rummy Club. And I'm stumped."

"What's your subject — New trends in girlies?"

"No, it's that McCarthy-Stevens hearing in Washington. I've been

Reports on Strength of Russia

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two new estimates were before the American people today on how their air strength stacks up against Soviet Russia's.

1. Word from U.S. diplomatic sources that there has been a "rapid increase in Soviet air potential" through the conversion of much of Russia's 20,000 plane force to modern jet planes.

2. A statement by Rep. Scrivner (R-Kan.), chairman of House Appropriations subcommittee handling Air Force funds, that the United States outnumbered Russia 3-2 in the air and that the Soviets have no long range bombers able to reach the United States and return to home bases.

The views were given out at the time of these events in Washington and elsewhere:

Congress was considering the annual Air Force appropriation bill. Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had just talked with President Eisenhower after a hurried trip to Europe and a visit with British Prime Minister Churchill. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) was reassessing its own and Soviet strength in the air on the ground and at sea.

Death of Girls Due to Spanish Fly

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard experts say two pretty office girls who died Tuesday were poisoned by a sexual stimulant called cantharides — Spanish fly.

Arthur Ford, 45, the manager of the drug-making firm where the girls worked, is in the hospital with symptoms of the same type of poisoning. All three became ill after eating chocolate confectionery bought at a shop near their office.

The girls, June Malins, 19, and Betty Grant, 27, died at the office before they could be taken to a hospital.

Detectives said possibly the substance had been put in the confection as a practical joke by someone not aware it was lethal in anything but minute quantities.

Molotov Backs China in Asia for Asians

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the Geneva conference today he agrees entirely with the Asia for Asians declaration of Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

Molotov, in his first policy speech before the 19-nation conference, said a peaceful solution of the Korean problem can be found if the delegates proceed "from the principle that the peoples of Asia have the full right to settle their affairs themselves."

"Other states the participants of the Geneva conference," he said, "are called upon to assist the Asian peoples in this respect by their friendly efforts."

Molotov spoke after Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey told the conference some United Nations troops may have to remain in Korea until the divided peninsula is unified under a democratic government. Many diplomats here are convinced this may never happen — at least not in the near future.

The Soviet foreign minister began by noting the presence of Red China at the meeting and said particular emphasis should be laid "on the fact that the great power of Asia — the People's Republic of China — will be able to contribute to the work of our conference."

On the whole the speech was mild and notable for the absence of personal attacks on Western political figures, but Molotov did assail the United States for what he called its "aggressive course."

Mrs. Teddy Jones and Mrs. M. B. Hatch trained the chorus.

O'Steen of Prescott, who made the highest grade and received a Bible, Juanita Cox of Emmet, Billy Rae Hare of Delight and Audrey Lilly of Hope.

Pilots Rush to Sign Up to Help French

TETERBORO, N. J. (UP) — Pilots rushing to sign up here today in a "don't give a damn" squadron to airdrop supplies to the embattled French in Indochina ranged all the way from a Wall Street stock broker to Canadian soldiers of fortune.

The big drawing card was a $25,000 annual salary. Some also said they didn't want Indochina to fall to the Communists.

The pilots are being recruited for an unnamed American airline by the pilots employment agency here. They get a $10,000 life insurance policy and have been warned to "expect death if shot down" behind Red lines.

Edward Binder, manager of the agency, said calls were pouring in from all over the world.

However, Says New Plan Would Hurt Situation

By MARVIN L. ARROWOOD

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower declared anew today that the United States is not going to get into any war in Indochina unless Congress declares it.

However, the President told news conference that a proposed Congress to forbid the sending American troops to Indochina, any other place in the world without prior congressional approval, could not fail to injure the flexibility in handling the situation.

The President was asked for evaluation of the possibility American combat forces being sent to Indochina.

He replied that he already expressed his views on that matter rather emphatically. He said a new Congress would not be a war except through constitutional processes.

And that's money, Eisenhower said, only through a declaration of war by Congress.

The president's statement was a direct challenge to the House of Representatives, which has passed a resolution to forbid the sending of American troops to Indochina.

He noted the Geneva conference, which is now in session, is a conference of the kind which has been held many times before. He said the Geneva conference is a conference of the kind which has been held many times before.

On other matters the President said he would not say more than he has already said. He said he would not say more than he has already said.

The congressional campaign Eisenhower is conducting has the intention of ensuring that the local and national contests will be decided by the people, not by the politicians.

President Eisenhower said he has the greatest admiration for Robert Oppenheimer, a scientist, an accomplished scientist, what he did not want to do much about his case while under investigation.

Oppenheimer has been named as an advisor to the Atomic Energy Commission. He was named as an advisor to the Atomic Energy Commission.

The farm program — Eisenhower declined to speculate on whether might veto a farm bill which would continue mandatory government support of basic commodities administration, which would be a big price support at the end of this year, in favor of a program which would leave farmers to the free market.

Kirby attributed the employment to an increased demand for construction, farm and retail workers.

Unemployment Drops in L. R.
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Unemployment dropped in the metropolitan Little Rock area last March.

Employment Secretary, Office Manager Charles W. said 550 more persons were employed in the area during the month in February. Total unemployment for the capital city was 4,100, he said.

Kirby attributed the employment to an increased demand for construction, farm and retail workers.

Cards Making Things Tough for Brooklyn

By BEN PHLEGAR, H. A. Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals are stealing their way back into the National League pennant picture. Running bases with an abandon no Redbird team has shown since the last St. Louis flag winner in 1944. Manager Eddie Stanky's club has moved from dead last at the start to within a game of the top.

In 12 games the Cards have swiped 12 bases. They need only half a dozen more to equal their total for the entire 1953 season. Winning Cardinals teams almost always have been running teams. One of the greatest was the 1931 aggregation. That was the year Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash led the club with 26 steals and Pepper Martin virtually stole the World Series away from the Philadelphia Athletics with his head-first belly slides.

The 1931 Cardinals stole 114 bases. The 1946 pennant winners, last National League team to win the World Series, stole 58. But look at the totals for some of the best years — 28 in 1947, 24 in 1949, 17 in 1949, 23 in 1950, 30 in 1951 and 33 in 1952. In every instance these figures placed St.

Louis last or next to last in the league in bases stolen.

Stanky claims there is no radical difference between the base-running tactics of the 1954 outfit and a last year's club.

"We're just trying a few things and they're working," he said.

Nevertheless, the figures are doubly interesting in that 10 different players on the team have stolen bases, including one pitcher — Harvey Haddix.

A steal figured directly in the result of yesterday's Cardinal game when the Redbirds edged Brooklyn 6-3 in 10 innings. Bonus baby Dick Schofield, running for Ray Jablonski, who had walked with two outs, stole a second on pitcher Jim Hughes and rode home on Steve Bilko's single, the second hit of the season for the massive first baseman.

The defeat, Brooklyn's second in a row in St. Louis, dumped the Dodgers into a third-place tie. They went West over the weekend in first place. The Cincinnati Reds, who replaced the Dodgers at the top on Tuesday, stayed there with an 8-4 verdict over the Pittsburgh Pirates, and the New York Giants moved into a tie with Brooklyn by nipping Milwaukee 3-1.

Rain and bad weather caused the other five scheduled games to be postponed.

Spectacular relief pitching by Little Jackie Collum preserved the Cincinnati victory after the Reds rallied for five runs in the third inning to gain a 7-4 lead. Collum stopped the Pirates on a hit Lamar McHan, the Arkansas Razorbacks' do-everything back for the past three years, is reported to be dicker with both the Chicago Cardinals and a Canadian professional football team.

The bidding for his services is said to be quite spirited, with the Cardinals having upped their offer three times.

This is no surprise, of course, for the blond Lake Village product would be a most valuable addition to any team. His running and passing was good enough to lead the Southwest Conference in total offense last fall; he was rated as one of the best kickers in conference history; was a fine defender and twice earned all-conference honors.

The Cardinals thought enough of him to take him as the first choice in the pro draft last winter.

McHan also was regarded as a bright pro baseball prospect, but his future in that sport has been darkened by a shoulder injury. He had to drop off the Porker diamond team a while back because he pinched something in the left shoulder over time he swung a bat. Fortunately, he throws a football righthanded.

Track — the sport hardest on athletes and most neglected by fans — gets in full swing in Arkansas high schools tomorrow and Saturday with district meets throughout the state. First and second finishers in each event will qualify for participation in the state meets next weekend.

The busiest golf course in Arkansas for the next two months will be the Little Rock Country Club. The annual four-ball tournament gets under way there next Thursday the state women's meet comes up May 15-16 and the state men's amateur June 17-20. The layout may also be the site of the Arkansas Open in July.

A pair of Cotton States League graduates — jumping from Class C to Class AA in one year — are coming right capable jobs for the Little Rock Travelers.

Shortstop Dolph Regelsky, up from Meridian, leads the Rocks in home runs, with five.

Outfielder Hal Martin, who was with Hot Springs last summer, broke into the Traveler lineup slowly but got his big bat in the groove Tuesday night with a couple of homers to boost his average to .444. He blasted 41 round-trippers last year to set a Cotton States record.

thinking fast. "Secretary Stevens wants to send McCarthy on an Army mission to Africa to organize the Mau Maus there against the Inchochinese invaders. But Adm. G. David Schine he — you've heard of him?"

"Of course, silly. Everybody knows him."

"Well, Adm. Schine is fighting against Sen. Stevens for McCarthy's services. He wants the senator to direct a secret Navy project to build an atom-power rowboat. It'll free the Navy of oars forever — if it works."

"What won't you think of next? How about Roy Cohn is he against Secretary Stevens and Adm. Schine? He doesn't seem to be too mad at Sen. McCarthy."

"Far from it. He has a third plan. He wants McCarthy to drop with some paratroopers on a Sioux Indian reservation out West — its crawling with Reds — and avenge the Custer Massacre."

"I should think his high time we did something about that," said Trellis Mae warmly. "Sen. McCarthy must feel pretty lucky to have three bigshots like that all fighting to get him to come to work for them. But tell me, when will we see the midget?"

"The midget? Wilbur was at sea."

Yes, Remembe the mudget they put on d J. P. Morgans knee the one he went to Washing- on to ask the government to please be more careful of its money? Don't they always have a midget at those Washington hearings?"

"One way or another, said Wilbur, grinning. "They will bring out the midget when the mystery witness testified. They always have to bring out a mystery witness at a hearing to solve the mystery. But right now he's being kept incommunicado."

"In where? On, never mind — if it's a secret. Just one question more. Why do the have all those Klor lights in the hearing room?"

"The politicians are trying to find a way to make daytime politics as popular as night baseball."

"Well, I'm not much of a baseball fan, but I will say that, even in a night ball game it's easier to tell who's got the ball," said Trellis Mae folding up her notes. But at least thanks to you dear I know now what the hearings all about. Men do have clearer heads than

The Hopewell 4-H Club met April 22 for its regular monthly meeting. Reports were given by the captains of each project carried on by the club. The club is doing some very good work in handicraft, home management, baking, safety, poultry, and gardening. Mrs. F. S. Smith, agent, gave a demonstra-women when it comes to politics. The next night Wilbur came home late and opened the door cautiously. A grimly silent wife met him.

"How did the ladies like your current events talk?" he asked, smiling.

"Oh, they said it was wonderful. The best talk of the year. They asked me to make another talk next week on the same subject — it was so interesting."

"They did? Wilbur's face fell. "Then what are you made about?"

"Well, I don't think a single member heard a single word I said. Two ladies showed up wearing new dresses that were exactly alike . . . down to the last polka dot. And everybody was watching to see what would happen."

"What did happen?"

After the meeting both ladies fawned up and tried to resign from the club. But we voted to accept only one resignation.

"Which one?"

"Why the one from the lady who never serves us anything, but peanut butter sandwiches when the club meets at her home — of course," said Trellis Mae.

Wilbur felt a clanging in his ears. He slumped down in his chair, opened his newspaper. After a moment Trellis Mae said, "Wilbur, what's the matter with you? You're reading the newspaper upside down."

"Just trying to confuse myself," said Wilbur. "A man with a clear head can get pretty lonely in this world. I want to see if it isn't more fun to live in a fog."

Korea Envoy Hits Block in Congress

NEW YORK (AP) — John J. McClellan, career diplomat and first American ambassador to South Korea, was reported today to have run into a roadblock in Congress.

The New York Herald Tribune said he is reportedly being blocked for nomination to an important diplomatic assignment, because he once offended a congressman.

The situation became known last night when a State Department official revealed that the department was reluctant to place McClellan's name before the Senate. A Washington dispatch to the Herald Tribune said he was an old hand at time. The new ambassador to South Korea, McClellan, was reported today to have run into a roadblock in Congress.

McClellan, 52, was born in New York and served in the Senate from 1934 to 1940. He was ambassador to the Philippines from 1946 to 1948 and to the Netherlands from 1949 to 1951.

Major Farm Battles Still Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate supporters claimed a victory today for the Eisenhower administration farm program but most lawmakers agreed that the major battles over farm price supports are still ahead.

By a 69-71 vote, the Senate yesterday passed a special wool subsidy bill and sent it on to the House.

Before that, the Senate beat down proposed riders aimed at extending the present rigid price supports on major field crops or at through the last 6 1-3 innings after they had battered starter Fred Maczowski for nine in the first 2-3.

Ruben Gomez pitched six shut-out innings and drove in the first New York run at Milwaukee before leaving the game with a wrenched back after running the bases in the seventh. Al Dark doubled with the bases loaded, also in the seventh, for the other two New York runs. Gomez' injury was not considered serious.

City Hall Out for Clean Sweep

Seems Spring has made the boys at City Hall sit up and look around a bit. And they didn't like what they saw. Thought the town looked kind of littered.

The Mayor called for us to get busy on a Spring clean-up. He launched the campaign with an invitation to name the most untidy place in town. The vote was unanimous—for City Hall!

"Guess we should've taken a look here first," says Mayor Thomas. "But, between scrub-bush and paint brush, we're going to make City Hall as spankin' clean as the day it opened."

From where I sit, the Mayor—and the rest of the town—could take a cue from some of our local businessmen. Take Andy who runs the Garden Tavern, for instance. He co-operates with the Self-Regulation program of the Brewing Industry by keeping his place spick-and-span all the time—the year around. It's clean-up time all the time at Andy's place!

Egyptian Regime Purge Continues

BY ZEIN NAGATI

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt's military regime extended its purge of opposition elements to the Army today and arrested 12 officers.

They were charged with working with the Wafdist, Socialist and Communist political factions against Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser and the Revolutionary Council of officers who kicked out ex-King Farouk.

The crackdown on the Army followed the banning of political activity by most of the leaders of the country's former political parties and a purge of press leaders opposing the military government.

Announcing the latest arrests, a government spokesman said the move had had "no repercussions in the army" and no reaction was expected from the military.

Those arrested ranged in rank from lieutenant to major.

The arrests also were another step in solidifying Nasser's control following his relegation of the former government head, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib, to a figurehead presidency April 18.

The government spokesman said several of those arrested were officers of a cavalry unit which had played an important role in bringing Naguib back to the presidency Feb. 25, after Naguib forced him to quit in the first round of their struggle for power.

The cavalry unit was commanded by Maj. Khaled Mohieddin, ousted from the Revolutionary Council in March and now in Europe.

Eddin said the arrested officers were being held in an army camp while an investigating committee prepared formal charges against them. He said the Revolutionary Council had not decided whether they would be tried by a court-martial or before the Revolutionary Court set up to judge activists during Farouk's regime.

The Revolutionary Council decided its surprise move on the army elements at an all-night meeting, lasting until almost dawn today at Army headquarters in Kubbeh suburb.

Squads of military police went out shortly before dawn to round up the officers.

Eddin said the officers picked up had worked closely with the "United Front," the political faction formed by Mustafa el Hashaba, Wafdist party, the Socialists and the Communists last February when the military withdrew from the political scene this summer.

That decision was reversed and political parties again were outlawed when Nasser finally won out 10 days ago in his struggle with Naguib.

Mother, Daughter Perish in Blast

MANILA, (AP) — A young farm wife and her infant daughter perished yesterday when an explosion and flames destroyed their tiny rural home near here.

Mississippi County Corner E. M. Holt identified the victims as Mrs. Lucy Virginia Trout 21 and Gloria Faye Trout, six months.

Holt said Mrs. Trout apparently threw kerosene on a wood-burning cook stove, in an effort to build a fire, and set off the explosion. He said her body was found lying near a couch. The baby was found on the couch.

Mrs. Trout's husband, 23-year-old David Trout, was working at the time of the accident said the corner.

The four-room, frame house was leveled by the blaze.

against it. The muffled thunder of feet scurrying down the wide stairs on either end of the assembly room to the exits was like a harmonious ending to a three-hour symphony that otherwise had been harsh and strident. She was sure she couldn't last through tomorrow and Friday to a relaxing weekend, let alone two weeks or more after that.

She was conscious of the knob turning and someone pushing at the door. She stood aside and Marion entered. Perching on a work table, she crossed her shapely legs and studied Elaine. "Lenny, you look done in. Please tell me that you'll try to stick it out until Mrs. Ferrell gets back."

Elaine sensed the same challenge that had been in Mrs. Dahlstrom's voice when she offered to make doughnuts. But Marion had called her "Lenny." So far, Mrs. Dahlstrom had called her only by her proper name and, even that, seemed to stick in her throat.

Elaine forced her lips up at the corners. "Well," she admitted, "I don't exactly feel like dancing. Wait until I'm broken in though. I'll caper about thusly." Letting her feet flutter back and forth in a quick tapstep, she glided past Marion, plopped and made her an exaggerated bow. As she giggled at the surprise on Marion's face, some of her tiredness slipped away.

Marion gasped as though she didn't quite believe it. "Where did you learn to dance."

"My dad. He could do all the corny ones. The Highland Fling, Irish hop, Soft shoe, Jig. For laughs, you know."

"Corny!" Marion exclaimed. "You ungrateful daughter. Can you do them all?"

Elaine cocked her head and raised her lips uncertainly.

"Well..."

U. S. steel making capacity has been increased since 1946 by more than enough to produce 32 million more tons a year.

The home of Abraham Lincoln is preserved in Springfield, Ill., and a log cabin at Hodgenville, Ky., is shown as his birthplace.

U. S. mosquito problems are increased by rapid growth in the amount of irrigated pasture lands which provide breeding grounds.
